The game was released in October 2005 for Microsoft Windows, and later on in February 2006 for Game Boy Advance. It was later released on the PlayStation 2 and Xbox under the name Bratz Rock Angelz. Gameplay Players take the role of five teenage girls as they explore a series of levels and complete a variety of mini-games while working their way to the top of the Bratz fashion doll hierarchy. The game is broken up into several different "playseasons", in which the girls are ranked at the end of the previous season. Each new season has a different combination of outfits, accessories, and hairstyles for the girls to use. The various game modes in the game each have different levels and bosses. The game ends when the five girls reach the top of the fashion doll hierarchy. Playable characters The game features a total of ten playable characters (some of which are unlockable).
